

C460-377BC

The Greek physician HIPPOCRATES, is often called the 'father of medicine'. The famed HIPPOCRATIC COLLECTION probably contains only a few of his own works and may be the remains of the HIPPOCRATIC school at COS. Perhaps the most important idea associated with HIPPOCRATES is that of relying on facts, clinical observation and experiment.

460 BC

Pericles was elected STRATEGOS.
He was re-elected repeatedly, became virtual dictator of Athens for a period of nearly 30 yrs. (→ 430 BC)

460 BC

1912 Dates J-BK

The Civil discord in Rome was renewed.

460 BC

EMPEDOCLE of ACRAGAS, philosopher.
AESCHYLUS' "Prometheus Bound."

460 BC

Lucius Quinctius Cincinnatus
(C519 → C439 BC)

Roman dictator & general.

He was called from his plow in time of Crisis. About 460 BC, when a Roman force had been trapped by the AEQUi at Mt. ALGIDUS. Cincinnatus, as dictator, led a relief force which extricated the Romans and defeated the AEQUi.

He then resigned his office & returned to his plow.

460 B.C.

Pericles established democracy in Athens.

460-445 BC

From 460 to 445 BC the Spartan and Athenian alliances clashed over control of the region. When the Peloponnesian War began in 431 BC, Sparta vowed to liberate Greece from Athenian tyranny. Pericles ordered all Athenians to retreat within the city's Long Walls, which linked ~~roughly~~ ~~the~~ ~~city's~~ ~~population~~ Athens with its port PIRAEUS. Plague struck the crowded city and killed roughly $\frac{1}{3}$ of its population, including Pericles

after years of intermittent war and Corneus Sparta defeated Athens in 404 BC and installed despotic rulers. Athens reestablished democracy and even thrived in the 4th century. But the war left Greeks bitterly divided - opening the door to a new conqueror

460-454 BC

Jer Hist
Egypt

Rebellion of INAROS

C 460 BC

CIN^ENNATUS was Crusul

460 BC

Building of Temple of Zeus, Olympia

460 BC

HIPPOCRATES, Greek Physician
"Father of medicine" born.

C460Be
525-456 BC

1912 Dates J-BK

Seven tragedies, the "Suppliants," the "Persians," the "Seven against Thebes," "Prometheus Bound," and the trilogy "Agamemnon"
"Choephori," and "Eumenides"
by AESCHYLUS, 525-456 BC

C 46013C

Temple of Poseidon at PAESTUM,
Italy - among best preserved Greek Doric temples.

460 B.C.

Phidias' Olympian Zeus

460BC

Lucius QUINCTIUS Cincinnatus
CINCINNATUS was Consul

460-430 BC

CELYS

In Greece, Phidias sculpts the Zeus of Olympia and Athena Parthenos.

c 460 BC

5th Cen BC

Hesiod's Work and Days was written down. in Classical Greece

c 460 BC \Rightarrow c 400 BC.

At time of historian THUCYDIDES, in writing "History of the Peloponnesian War", he had to invent an appropriate system of dating, since each Greek city had its own calendar.

In his time the year was usually indicated by the name of an official, for example,

at Athens the first archon
and at Sparta the first ephor:

Thucydides fixed the beginning of the war and dated subsequent events by counting how many years had elapsed from the start. Each year of the war he divided into two, which he called summer and winter, respectively.

460 - 445 BC

'First Peloponnesian War'
Athens against Corinth
(and later Sparta and Thebes)

460-454 BC

Athenian expedition to Egypt
ends in disaster

460 BC

Parchment replaces clay tablets for Achaemenid administrative documents (written in Aramaic)

460 BC

LUCIUS (or TITUS) QUINCTIUS
CINCINNATUS was consul.

Appointed dictator 458 BC (456?)
and 439 BC

460 BC

EASTER

The Metonic Cycle (Born 460 B.C.) is the basis of the present ecclesiastical rule for fixing Easter.

460 BC.

Egypt: Inarus, in revolt against Persia, appeals to Athens for help.

460 BC 458 BC
5th Cen B.C.

LUCIUS (P)TITUS QUINCTIUS CINCINNATUS

Roman Patriot. He was Consul in 460 BC and Dictator twice 458 BC and 439 BC. In his first dictatorship he came from his (3 acre) farm to defeat the AEQUI & VOLSCIANS, who were threatening the city from the East and southeast.
He returned from battle, resigned his dictatorship and went home to his farm. In 439 BC he came out of retirement to put down the plebeians. The separation of legend from history in Cincinnatus' story is impossible.